“Are you listening, God?” If you find yourself asking this question, if you’ve been struggling to understand your relationship with God, or if you simply want to experience God’s love more fully in your life, then Spiritual Direction might be right for you. It’s all about being able to express your concerns—your fears, your hopes, your questions, your joys—to someone who is there to listen with a holy ear and, just as importantly, to support you in your desire to listen more deeply to what God is saying to you!

Having completed my 3-year training in Spiritual Direction at FIND in 2014, I’ve been blessed to be an active Spiritual Director in Central Texas for the past decade. My personal Christian experience could be described as a synthesis, drawing from a wide range of religious traditions and practices as well as a diversity of life experiences—all of which are gifts that allow me to be open to hearing your unique story and God’s part in it. Together, let’s explore God’s Love Story expressed in your life.
